

Labfacility - Farnell Relationship

Labfacility are proud to have developed a strong relationship with key Worldwide distributor, Farnell over the last 35+ years. Farnell sell our products under the Labfacility brand.

Our products are sold under key Farnell categories including test & measurement, sensors, cables, cooling and thermal management, automation & process control, and the popular L60 Thermocouple Welder is offered in the tools and production supplies section.

See the full range of Labfacility products on offer through Farnell here.

Farnell distribute around the World in over 100 countries including the USA / Americas under the brand name Newark Electronics. Click here to see the Labfacility offering within Newark Electronics.

Both Labfacility and Farnell recently expanded operations in the North of England with Farnell moving into a state of the art new facility in Leeds and Labfacility doubling capacity at our Dinnington site, home of our sensor manufacturing plant.

New products are introduced regularly to increase our range available through Farnell worldwide and we look forward to strengthening our partnership going forward.